Duro-Last® Names Chris Warner as New Vice President of Operations

SAGINAW, Mich. — Duro-Last, a member of Holcim Building Envelope, is pleased to announce the appointment of Chris Warner as its new Vice President of Operations. With more than 20 years of experience in operational leadership and a strong background in lean manufacturing and strategic process optimization, Warner will be instrumental in enhancing Duro-Last's operational excellence and advancing its commitment to safety and superior customer service.

"I am honored to join Duro-Last and contribute to the legacy of excellence that has made the company a trusted leader in commercial roofing," Warner said. "Duro-Last's reputation for quality and its close, collaborative relationships with contractors set it apart in the industry. I am excited to bring my experience to help build on these strengths, driving operational enhancements that support both our partners and our ambitious growth goals."

In this role, Warner will focus on expanding Duro-Last's manufacturing footprint, lean manufacturing principles and operational efficiencies. His role will also encompass strategic planning, supply chain management and capital improvement initiatives, all aimed at driving Duro-Last's growth and ensuring consistent delivery of high-quality roofing solutions.

Warner brings a wealth of industry experience, having previously served as vice president of operations for Omnimax International, where he managed a network of 11 sites and achieved substantial value creation through lean methodologies. Prior to that, he served as vice president of operations at Boral Building Products Inc., where he successfully implemented safety and enterprise resource planning systems across multiple locations, spearheading cross-functional initiatives that increased revenue and enhanced operational performance.

Darren Schulz, president of Duro-Last, shared his confidence in Warner's leadership. "Chris brings a wealth of experience in operational leadership and a proven track record in driving efficiency and safety improvements across complex organizations. His expertise will be invaluable as we continue to enhance our operations and deliver outstanding service to our contractors and customers. We look forward to the positive impact he will make in helping Duro-Last reach new heights of operational excellence."

In addition to Duro-Last, Warner will lead the manufacturing operations of sister brands EXCEPTIONAL® Metals, Plastatech® Engineering, Oscoda Plastics®, TIP-TOP® Screw Manufacturing and Anvil Paints & Coatings.
